Visa Requirements of Foreign Governments

This listing is prepared solely for the information of U.S. citizens traveling as tourists and does not apply to persons going as immigrants to foreign countries. The visa fees are in U.S. currency only. Persons traveling on official business for the U.S. Government should obtain visa information from the agency sponsoring their travel. A visa is an endorsement or stamp placed by officials of a foreign country on a U.S. passport that allows the bearer to visit that foreign country.

IMPORTANT: THIS LISTING IS PREPARED FROM INFORMATION FURNISHED BY FOREIGN EMBASSIES PRIOR TO APRIL 1984. SINCE THIS INFORMATION IS SUBJECT TO CHANGE, TRAVELERS SHOULD CHECK PASSPORT AND VISA REQUIREMENTS WITH THE CONSULAR OFFICIALS OF THE COUNTRIES TO BE VISITED WELL IN ADVANCE OF THEIR DEPARTURE DATES.

WARNING - Proof of United States Citizenship

While a U.S. passport is not required by U.S. laws for travel to or in North, South, or Central America or adjacent islands, except for Cuba, a passport is required under the laws or regulations of some of those countries. Persons who travel to a country where a U.S. passport is not required should be in possession of documentary evidence of their U.S. citizenship and identity to facilitate reentry into the United States.

Those countries that do not require a passport to enter or depart frequently require the traveler to have documentary evidence of U.S. citizenship and identity. Documentary evidence of U.S. citizenship may be a previously issued U.S. passport, birth certificate, Certificate of Naturalization, Certificate of Citizenship, or Report of Birth Abroad of a Citizen of the United States. Documentary evidence of identity may be a previous U.S. passport, Certificate of Naturalization, Certificate of Citizenship, valid driver's license, or Government (Federal, State, municipal) identification card or pass. Persons traveling in countries having requirements for evidence of citizenship and identity are cautioned that they may experience serious difficulties or delays if they do not have the necessary documents. Inquire before departure at the embassy in Washington, D.C., or the local consulate of the country to be visited for specific requirements.

Visas

NECESSARY VISAS SHOULD BE OBTAINED BEFORE PROCEEDING ABROAD. Most foreign consular representatives are located in principal cities, particularly Chicago, New Orleans, New York, San Francisco, and Washington, D.C. In many instances, a traveler may be required to obtain visas from the consular office in the area of his/her residence. IT IS THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE TRAVELER TO OBTAIN VISAS, WHERE REQUIRED, FROM THE APPROPRIATE EMBASSY OR NEAREST CONSULAR OFFICE. The addresses of foreign consular offices in the United States may be obtained by consulting the CONGRESSIONAL DIRECTORY, which is available in most libraries, or city telephone directories. Tourists may be required to present other documentation at the port of entry of countries to be visited.

Immunizations

Under the International Health Regulations adopted by the World Health Organization, a country, under certain conditions, may require International Certificates of Vaccination against smallpox, yellow fever, and cholera from international travelers. NO vaccinations are required to return to the United States from any country. Some other countries, however, may require certain immunizations, and certain other preventive measures are advisable for some travelers. The booklet, "Health Information for International Travel," available from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402, provides pertinent information. Specific information may be obtained from your local health department, physician, or private or public agency that advises international travelers.
